H. B. ANDERSON'S SUNDAY

FORGIVENESS MINERAL AND AGRICULTURAL WEALTH.

Prof. Brock, just returned from his visit to the Hudson Bay railway, says there are vast areas of land suitable for agriculture. There is a great deal of water power for power and other purposes.

Others say that the country through which the new Hudson Bay railway will run possesses agricultural and mineral possibilities that need only railway facilities to open them up. The statement of Prof. Brock, an interview given by him to the W. G. Brock, director of the geological survey, who has just returned from a visit on which he accompanied Earl Grey through the north country.

While I had not time to make a personal examination of the land, said Prof. Brock, I noticed one promising looking tract on the Saskatchewan river, about 100 miles long. There was of course no prospecting in this district, but it is believed that the tract is about 100 miles long. There was of course no prospecting in this district, but it is believed that the tract is about 100 miles long.

There is any amount of water power available all through the country. The Nelson river itself being one of the largest in the world in this respect.

Winning—Two cases occupied the railway commission here, the first being the extension of a passenger line from Blackfoot to the north, and the second being the extension of a freight line from the same point to the south.

Our route, said Prof. Brock, lay somewhat south of the location of the line that I am proposing. It is a matter of some difficulty for railway companies to find a route in the north country where the terrain is so rough and the climate is so severe.

Prof. Brock is the only member of the geological survey who has returned to Ottawa. He is preparing a report on the geological features of the country through which he passed, for a survey of the Hudson Bay railway.

WORK ON ALBERTA IRRIGATION

Are Busy at Work on the Big Ditch.

Calgary.—With 35 miles of the irrigation ditch to be laid out from Lake McGregor in the Saskatchewan valley to the Bow river near the Canadian border, it is expected that the 40,000 acres of land that the Southern Alberta Irrigation company has purchased will be placed on the market next year.

This irrigation ditch which will allow the constant flow of water of water will cost somewhere in the vicinity of $4,000,000. Three years have already been spent on the work and it is considered sufficiently advanced now to open up the lands for settlement.

Service to those homesteaders who have found the past season a trying one for it has provided almost a perfect employment. No less than 400 men are busy at the present time on the ditch.

Mr. D. F. McArthur, and his representative over 100 men. The ditch, when completed, will be about 180 miles long, and it is not the large one to be laid out.

What with this ditch and the railroad, the Southern Alberta Irrigation company is well on its way to making a fortune in the future.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON 11—FOURTH QUARTER, 1913.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xiv, 1-12. Memory Verse, 12-13. Golden Rule, Luke xii, 48. Commentary by Rev. D. M. Gorman.

We have a new story assigned for the morning of the religion of the nations as seen and judged by the judge of all earth. All their works they do for to be seen of men. Our lives are lived, from our standpoint, either before people for their approval or before God for His approval only. The latter is the only true way to live, according to the Bible.

But it is in fact, to be feared that many a person is not ready for the approval of God. Let such consider the light of this shadow, and the light to which the "rain" will come.

We shall have one study each week later in the later part of chapter xiv, but nothing is first than the study of the "rain" and all important olive discourse. Yet we have no opportunity to leave the subject in the light of the great event of Jesus 30, 31, the coming of the Son of man.

It is a very interesting study, and a great tribulation, for it is then that the church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah.

The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah.

The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah.

The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah. The church will be as in the days of Noah.

Another thing that makes us glad the men folks don't have to wear anything corresponding to the hobble skirt is that, judging from the pictures we have seen of rear views of that garment, we hardly think it would allow room to carry a lot of old truck around in our hip pockets.

In some parts of the community many farmers are suffering from a shortage of help. The thrasher-men especially find that the need for more help is very great. We should in some way procure more laborers as the season is already well advanced.

Some blamed good fellows lie asleep down yonder where the tall grass waves, but no one ever comes to weep, or plant rosebushes on their graves. They calmly rest in paupers' beds, and wait the judgment, in a row, no shining tombstones over their heads, no requiem but the winds that blow. They were the shiftless, trifling lads, upon a weary world turned loose; they never learned to nail the seeds, and salt them down for winter use. It's pretty tough that some must sleep in unmarked, bargain counter graves, because their plunks they cannot keep; the honor's for the man who saves. A man whose eyes are wide apart, whose hands are reaching in his jeans, who listens rather to his heart than to the teachings of his brains, is apt to join the pauper crowd, and perish after many knocks, and wear a cheap, old-fashioned shroud, and slumber in a misfit box. Whereas, if he is shrewd and wise, with lips that close up like a hasp, and little spaces between the eyes, and hands that hang to what they grasp, his death will fill the town with gloom and mourners will bewail the day, and he will have a corking tomb in which to last the years away.—Walt Mason.

That Col. Roosevelt may be asked to accept the post of advisor to the regent of China at a very large salary is vouched for by Dr. William Edgar Giel, who has just returned to America after a year spent in studying the political situation in China. Dr. Giel left Peking on Aug. 1, and at that time, he says, it was current gossip in political circles that the palace authorities were considering a proposition to engage Colonel Roosevelt to assist in piloting the country through a rather stormy period.

BENTLEY

The dance in the hall on Saturday evening was well attended, and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Quite a number from here expect to attend the Lacombe Fair this week.

The oldest son of Jas. McLeod, a settler out near Leslieville, died suddenly while in the hay field, in Rainy Creek Valley, on Monday last. Mr. McLeod, who has been running the engine at Vickers's Brick Yard, was telephoned for and came out with Dr. Sharpe. The doctor found that the boy, who was about 15 years old, died suddenly while alone, from a blood clot on the brain.

We hear that Blackfields is the center of railroad construction activity at present.

TRADE OF CANADA SHOWS INCREASE.

Imports and Exports With Great Britain Grows Apace.

Lord Strathcona, Canada's high commissioner to Great Britain, in his annual report which has just been issued, points out that the depression in trade that was characteristic of the year 1908 has now passed away, and that there is much better feeling in commercial circles. Both in imports and exports the trade between Great Britain and Canada shows large increases. The total trade with Canada in the year 1909 was £29,424,000, as against £26,538,206 in 1908, an increase of £2,885,794.

Exports from the United Kingdom to Canada show the substantial increase of £2,126,187 and the imports from Canada have increased £760,216. The imports into the United Kingdom from Canada that have increased are chiefly wheat, flour and oats, and decreases have taken place in peas, butter and canned fish.

In respect of bacon, it is noted that a decrease of £463,279 (or 25.35 per cent) took place in 1909 in the imports of this important product. The shortage in the supply of bacon for the market of the United Kingdom during the year under review has created an interesting situation. Bacon is unquestionably the staple breakfast food in England, and the demand has been a steady and increasing one for some years past. Up to 1905 the rapid growth and expansion of the Canadian bacon exports to the United Kingdom was so gratifying that it was hoped that the Dominion would eventually find it one of the largest and most profitable of her industries.

This hope, however, has not been borne out, though a leading agricultural journal recently pointed out in speaking of the excellent reputation established on the British market for Canadian bacon, that had the supply been equal to the demand it is difficult to estimate the magnitude that might have been reached.

The report then goes on to point out that the exports of bacon from Canada are only about half what they were in 1907, and the result is that prices have reached such an abnormal height that there is a great decrease in consumption of bacon which is one of the staple dishes of the English breakfast table. It has been stated that seventy per cent of the households of the United Kingdom are maintained on forty shillings a week or less, and higher prices therefore, operate at once to diminish purchases. So that the failure of Canada and the United States to provide the necessary supplies of this commodity is causing great concern in the provision trade.

The result is that Canada, which at one time was looked on as having the opportunity of working up a great trade, is rapidly losing ground. Other sources of supply are being opened up, and Russia, Siberia and Holland are being drawn upon, and consignments of pigs have actually been received from China. His lordship says that "Canadian farmers must maintain an abundant supply of hogs if the Dominion is to successfully compete with a country like Denmark, where painstaking attention is devoted not only to the successful production of bacon, but to the maintenance of regular supplies to this great market."

In dealing with the question of cheese exports from Canada the report calls attention to the complaints recently made by British importers. These relate to the inferior quality of the mowls, wrappings, and to their too great thickness. The report says: "It was further stated that complaints are being made in regard to consignments of cheese, but these have been figured up quickly, shipped out in a green state, and waxed with paraffine wax to prevent shrinkage, which latter practice is said to have a distinctly deteriorating effect. It was also pointed out that the cheese when unwaxed and divested of its cloth shows a rind as soft as when it was first made and when cut it exhibits cracks. It seems desirable to again draw the attention of cheese exporters in Canada to the necessity of providing boxes of suitable wood and of proper size to prevent breakage."

The high commissioner points out that the egg trade has been declining for the last ten years, and this he attributes to the high price and the large home demand. The remainder of the report is mainly composed of pointing out the uses of the department and the facilities which are afforded to Canadian exporters in providing the best market for their commodities.

The Mystery of Freight Rates.

When any public complaint is made in regard to railway freight rates, nothing can be counted upon with greater certainty than that the freight officials of the railway company whose rates are the subject of complaint will take the attitude that those who are complaining do not understand what they are talking about, says the Winnipeg Free Press. Everybody outside the offices of the railway freight officials, apparently, is in an incurable state of Egyptian darkness of ignorance in regard to the art and mystery of the making of freight rate schedules. Bodies of business men may easily dispel that darkness from their minds by study of facts and figures, but from the freight officials' point of view, it is only labor wasted.

It has happened that when certain rates being complained of before the Railway Commission, chief officials have been placed on the witness stand and questioned with a view to eliciting information which would determine upon what basis the rates complained of were fixed, but without satisfactory results. At a recent hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission there was a striking case of this. A high freight official of the Erie railway system, when asked by counsel appearing before the Commission on behalf of shippers as to what he could say in regard to the method of determining whether or not a particular rate was a fair and just one, replied: "I can say positively nothing. All that I can say is that the shippers are getting splendid transportation service at cheap rates." When asked what were the factors that made him think the service was "cheap" his answer was: "I could not tell you. I just feel that it is so; that is all."

When asked why the same rates should be charged for silks and olefin clothing, the freight official could only say that, while differing so much in value, they were in the same classification. "I cannot give you the reasons for the various commodities being placed in the various classes," he said. "No man can do so. There is no reason beyond the fact they are."

Which is like the saying, "I am not reasoning with you—I am telling you." Apparently freight officials in the United States have an instinctive knowledge which they cannot explain, of what constitutes a fair rate and a fair classification. It is a matter of intuition. The same intuition plays an important part in the freight rate schedules in this country. Shippers both in this country and in the United States distrust the instincts and intuitions of freight officials in some cases. It should be possible to work out some classifications and rates upon a business basis capable of explanation.

This Year's Wheat Yield.

Now that the supplies of new wheat are coming upon the market we will begin to have some fair chance of guessing what the actual yields have been. Later will come those not too cheerful gleaners, the statisticians, and before the old year quite passes, the practical farmer will have seen and heard enough of actual thrashings to form his own definite judgment on the harvest of the year. The fall, or its modern equivalent, is still the high court of appeal, and the most experienced farmers are those attaching least importance to any earlier judgment.

There are paring seasons when poor shrivelled grain lurks in fine bronzed healthy looking ears, and there are harvests when the reaped grain, completing a certain amount of growth or development in the ear, after severance from the soil, turns out decidedly better than the practiced reapers themselves expected. In a year like the present when so many acres have ripened so uniformly, the thrashing machine alone can strike a serviceable average. Drying winds round the damp stacks may work considerable improvement and the season is undoubtedly one when thrashing may well be postponed till October.

The latest estimates on the wheat crop, based on thrashing returns, is 97,000,000 for western Canada, in all the Dominion it is something like 184,000,000. Surely the thrashing machine is doing its work well. The yield is better than expected. What the farmer has for the last few weeks engaged upon is the preparation for another crop. He has been engaged sowing fall wheat. Our fortunes for 1911 are much in his hands. Fortunately the conditions for fall wheat sowing have been ideal. We have not known so much moisture in the ground in September before. Last fall there was no moisture to speak of and the seed did not germinate. This year almost every grain put into the ground shows a green blade in from a week to ten days after being sown. The wheat plants are getting a good root and should be able to stand the winter well. Happily, there appears to be little in the present outlook to threaten farmers with unprofitable prices. Russia's increased cultivation is significant and the west goes on from strength to strength.

The world as a whole has grown markedly less wheat in 1910 than it did in 1909, and the rate of food wants per head of population is steadily increasing. Farmers must take their risks, but after the first rush of the new crop deliveries is over, reasonable values should reassert themselves, and once re-established should be steadily maintained.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all Dealers.

Somehow I do not seem to care about those frightful Guggenheims who try to strip the country bare, and starve mankind with their crimes. I worry more about the fact that old man Quackebush is ill; by divine surgeons he's been backed, and now he cannot pay his bill. Upon his bed he's stretched out flat, for days and days he's moaned and cried; and so we think I'll pass the hat, and let those Guggen people slide. I do not seem to care a red about our forests and our coal; for old man Clunkensbeard is dead; his widow's badly in the hole. She has about a hundred kids, and all as hungry as get out; they're needing shoes and pants and lids, and wiener-wurst and bread and kraut. Their ma will have to hit the tin, and wash until her fingers bleed, to keep that walling crew in grub and all the things that children need. While statesmen fuss about the coal, and talk of forests till they die, I'll rustle for that poor old soul, and try to fix her with a pie. I do not care ainker's whoop about the Vital Issue talk; I see some people in the soup whenever I walk round a block; if I can lend a helping hand to some ill-used but worthy chump, the vital things may all be canned, and taken to the public dump.—Walt Mason.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Sold by all Dealers.

Refusing to discuss the tuesday of cattle guards, of which he is well assured, Chairman Macle, of the railway commission, sees the law on the subject is defective and inadequate and advised the grain-growers to apply to parliament for legislative amendment.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is today the best known medicine in use for the relief and cure of bowel complaints. It cures griping, diarrhoea, dysentery, and should be taken at the first unusual looseness of the bowels. It is equally valuable for children and adults. It always cures. Sold by all Dealers.

Railway Development in Canada.

At the time of the accession of Queen Victoria a traveller who wished to journey from London to York would travel most quickly by going on horseback. The same would be said of one who made the journey in the days of William the Conqueror. No advance in speed had been made since man first learned to ride horseback. Within less than a century all this is changed.

Seventy years ago on the London and Birmingham railway the average cost of a train, for each mile of travel, was just over one dollar and eighty-six cents. To-day it works out at less than half this figure being about eighty-three cents. And this notwithstanding the great improvement both in speed and luxury. Speed is increased as the design of our engines improves, but the work which a modern engine has to do, quite apart from the speed at which it does it, is very different from the work of the early days of railroading.

According to a recent issue of the Canadian Engineer in the year 1850 there were 66 miles of railway in the dominion. The chief dependence for imperial communication was upon the river system aided by a few shallow canals then in operation. In 1851 an act was passed by the Canadian parliament making provision for the construction of a main trunk line through the two Canadas.

When one stops to consider that there are 22,104 miles of railway in Canada at the present time, that they employ 125,000 people, and that their aggregate earnings for the year 1909 were over $145,000,000, one has some idea of their immensity and importance.

Fully conscious as we are in Western Canada of the civilizing and economic value of the railway, it will be interesting to turn back for a moment and read what the parliament of the day, of the introduction of the iron horse into commerce, said of its possibilities.

Speaking on a charter to permit the construction of a railway from Manchester to Liverpool, Sir Isaac Coffin said: "He would not consent to see widows' premises and their strawberry beds invaded. Railway trains would take many hours to perform the journey between Manchester and Liverpool, and in the event of the success of the scheme what, he would like to ask, was to be done for all those who had advanced money in making and repairing turnpikes? What with those who might wish to travel in their own or hired carriages after the fashion of their forefathers? What was to become of coachmakers, harnessmakers, coachmasters and coachmen, underkeepers, horse breeders and horse dealers? Was the house aware of the smoke and noise, the hiss and the whirl, which locomotive engines passing at the rate of ten or twelve miles an hour would occasion? Not even the cattle plowing in the fields or grazing in the meadows could behold them without dismay. Iron would be raised in price 100 per cent or more; probably be exhausted all together. It would be the greatest mischief the most complete disturber of quiet and comfort in all parts of the kingdom that the ingenuity of man could invent."

Attacked, But Unaware of It.

The anti-tuberculosis crusade has been in progress long enough to make it possible now to recognize certain mistakes that have been made in connection with it. The most serious of these has been the frightening of people unduly by sensational announcements and advertising. The mental effect of these methods, which have an undeniable educational value in shaking great numbers of people out of their ignorance and negligence in regard to bad air, unsanitary conditions in sleeping rooms and poor food, is positively injurious in not a few cases through the power of suggestion. The great majority of the persons whose organs at the close of their lives bear signs of tubercular lesions do not die of tuberculosis. Very many never knew they had it. What had happened was that at some period they had been somewhat "run down," but had recovered from the attack, either because of strong constitutions or fortunate physical surroundings, without once suspecting the real nature of their trouble.

The fact, therefore, which is conclusively proved by post-mortem examinations that a great number of people have tuberculosis, got over it and never know they had it has its reassuring aspect. No one should be frightened to death, even if the existence of the disease is established in one's consciousness by a medical diagnosis. The fundamental rules for a cure are the simple rules of good health.

There cannot be too much fight against tuberculosis either by public authorities or private agencies. One of the best general results of the anti-tuberculosis crusade will ultimately be the popularizing of sleeping, if not in open air sleeping rooms, at least in rooms thoroughly ventilated with fresh air.

Alberta's Great Resources.

Hardly a day goes by without some announcement being made of the discovery of some new field of great wealth in Alberta. One day it is a large area of rich soil yet untouched. Again it is a large tract of valuable forest in the great unknown north. Another time it is a gusher of natural gas before undiscovered. Yet again, some source of splendid undeveloped water power is found. But probably the greatest of all are the continued discoveries of vast coal areas. These coal fields are not confined to one particular part of the province. There was a time when it was thought that all the good coal of Alberta was in Southern Alberta and the Crow's Nest Pass district. But good coal was found in the Kneehill country, north-east of Calgary. Then the country west of Edmonton in the Yellowhead and Brazeau districts was found to have deposits of good coal. And so it has gone on, and is still going on.

What the coal wealth of this province is can hardly be conjectured, much less calculated. What it means to this province can not be estimated. The known coal fields exceed those of Pennsylvania in value. What is there to hinder Alberta exceeding that great state in its industrial development? The future of Alberta from this standpoint alone should fill Albertan hearts with pride and satisfaction as to the permanence of its growth and development. It is hard to imagine a future too great for fulfilment, as this great industry, together with many others are developed to their full capacity.

Spain is said to be about to abolish the death penalty, following in this the example of Italy and France, although the latter country, after trying the experiment, has to acknowledge its failure as a deterrent of murder. It is also said that the abolition of the death penalty is favored by many of the reform leaders in China. Meanwhile the horrible tortures hitherto inflicted upon Chinese criminals before they were put to death have been entirely put an end to by the Chinese Government.

Your complexion as well as your temper is rendered miserable by a disordered liver. By taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets you can improve both. Sold by all Dealers.

The annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities was held last week in Toronto. At the opening of the convention the secretary made some startling statements of the plans being made by American capitalists and grabbers of public property, headed by Pierpont Morgan, to get control of franchise, water powers and resources of the country in general. Delegates were present from all parts of the Dominion.

One Injustice Still Remaining.

There is one thing in the administration of justice in this and other countries that does not seem right, and that is that the man who is wrongfully arrested and incarcerated has no redress for the loss and suffering he underwent while an innocent prisoner. Cases are not uncommon where men are arrested and kept in prison for a time awaiting trial while their families are suffering because their supporter is not earning money.

There are cases where a person can recover damages for malicious prosecution. But when the Crown makes the prosecution either on its own initiative or on the complaint of some individual the situation is different.

It can easily be seen that recompensing people for arrest and imprisonment would present many grave difficulties, but there should be some way of alleviating the situation as it too often exists.

Alberta's Arable Land.

It may not be generally known that in the province of Alberta there is more arable land than in any other province in the Dominion. Mr. Archibald Blue, chief officer of the census department, has prepared a report which shows that there are 96,463,000 acres of arable land in Alberta; 98,655,000 in Saskatchewan; 66,450,000 in Ontario; 48,745,000 in Quebec; 24,760,000 in Manitoba; 23,992,000 in British Columbia; 8,764,000 in Nova Scotia and 1,265,000 in Prince Edward Island, and that the total arable land in Canada is 358,835,190 acres. Of the 238,000,000 acres of land in Western Canada, 50,000,000 acres are suitable for the growing of wheat, so it does not seem probable that we shall ever have to face starvation, as it is estimated that Canada can produce easily 1,000,000,000 bushels of wheat a year by tilling all her arable land, that is suitable for the growing of this grain.

This would provide for a good part of the rest of the world even when Canada has the 50,000,000 population Sir Wilfrid Laurier predicts, and the 100,000,000 population E. M. Macdonald, M. P., predicts.

SIXTY ACRES OF OATS AVERAGE 132 1-2 BUSH.

P. A. Switzer Has Prize Field of the Dominion.

If you wish to locate in the greatest farming country in the world, you must come to Lacombe.
As we have often before said, this district is without doubt the best mixed farming district in the best farming Province in the Dominion.
For twenty years—or so long as we have had any farmers here—a crop failure has been unknown, and this very eccentric year is no exception.

While the larger portion of the Provinces reports but an average crop, this district has produced a world beater.
One of the competitions at the Dry Farming Congress to be held in Spokane, Wash., this week, is the "Acre Yield." All the States and Provinces of Canada have been invited to compete. To Lacombe has been awarded the honor of supplying the "Acre Yield" of oats. Out of the many large fields in the district, that of Mr. P. A. Switzer is the one to furnish the grain.

He has a field of sixty acres, the like of which has never been seen before. In the standing grain field competition Sept. Fairfield, the judge, estimated that it would average 125 bushels to the acre.
You may not be disposed to believe it, but he was a long way below the mark.

On Monday the crop from a measured acre was threshed, and the grain obtained amounted to 132 bushels and 15 pounds.
How is that?
The whole yield goes to the Spokane Fair. Mr. Switzer receives $1.00 per bushel for the crop, besides any other prizes that may be offered.

We will again remark that when it is farming you are talking about Lacombe can deliver the goods.

Anyone can be a successful groucher, but it takes real stuff to be cheerful when things aren't coming your way.

The Restaurant Thief.

The mysterious and sensational robbery, which took place last Tuesday, at Yock Twoy's restaurant, so far has not been cleaned up at all.

The hearing in police court did not enlighten the Justices as to who was the thief, if we do not in some measure place it to the credit to the one accused. A shooting gallery man is implicated in the affair beyond doubt, but the Chink's evidence is to the effect that that man had nothing to do with the tapping of the till.
The Chinaman was positive on that point, as he was queried by counsel two or three times and in as many ways as to whether the gallery man was out of his sight at any time while in his restaurant.
Evidence for the defence did not prove to the satisfaction of the court that the accused was guilt-less, but went to show that a second party was mixed up in the thing and that seemed to be as far as it was possible to go.

The Chinaman thinks the young man of red sweater fame took the money and that man's actions immediately afterwards substantiated that opinion.
J. I. Poole defended.

Chas. West Sells Out.

Lake district, takes possession of Railway street. During his long residence in Lacombe Mr. West has made many warm friends, who will be pleased to learn that he has made a satisfactory disposal of his business. Mr. Eggen will carry a full line of groceries, etc., and intends keeping the business right up to date.

The Trouble at Buck Lake.

Const. Thorne returned on Saturday from a trip to Buck Lake, where he was investigating the report that Indians in that vicinity were molesting the white settlers.
The trip occupied over a week.
The trouble at Buck Lake has arisen from the fact that a number of Indians have squatted on land around there and built shacks, and the land has been homesteaded by white settlers. When the white men arrive, the Indians get ugly, and try and make it as uncomfortable as possible for the new arrivals. While some of the Indians, who are all treaty men, have used threatening language to the white homesteaders, no violence has been resorted to. Last winter the Indians stole large quantities of hay and feed for their stock, but this is the extent of their depredations. On arriving at Buck Lake Const. Thorne called a mass meeting of all the white settlers and Indians in the district, and through an interpreter gave the unruly red men some good advice.
He advised them to get back on their reserves before they got into trouble, and told them that if further reports of unruly conduct were sent to the police, the offenders would immediately be placed in custody. His advice was taken by several of the Indians, and before the constable left for home several of the dusky families had packed their suit cases and left for their respective reserves.

Const. Thorne made a round of the cottages at Gull Lake this week and found that a number of them were open. He does not know whether this was caused by carelessness on the part of the owners, or whether they had been forcibly entered by rustlers. He is going to make a round of the cottages once a week from now on, and a large quantity of wood is in store for anyone caught tampering with the goods and chattels of the lake residents.

About sixty citizens turned out last Wednesday evening to the reception tendered to Rev. A. J. and Mrs. Patstone. The function took place in Mobley's Hall. A splendid program of vocal and instrumental music was provided, after which refreshments were served.

OUR FALL FAIR OPENS TOMORROW

With a Larger Number of Entries
Than Ever Before.

Our Fall Fair opens tomorrow (Thursday). Never before have the prospects been brighter, nor has such enthusiasm prevailed in days preceding the Fair as this year.

The success of our Fair is already assured. The quality and quantity of our stock is capable of making one of the grandest provincial stock competitions that has taken place anywhere within the province this year. The entries in nearly all classes have been numerous, so we are informed by Secretary Goulay, and everything is in readiness for a better and greater Fair than Lacombe has ever before held.

In the judging of stock, we may be assured that all prizes will be awarded without prejudice, as the Department of Agriculture is supplying judges who are not acquainted with the winning herds or our stock owners, thus avoiding any fraudulent or dishonest practices in awarding the prizes.

Entries in all classes must be in the hands of the Secretary before 10 a.m. Sept. 29th (tomorrow) as the judging will commence then or as soon after as is possible. Exhibitors must be the owners of the property exhibited at least 30 days before the Fair, and in the case of registered live stock the exhibitor must present to the judge a certificate of registration if he so requires.

All prize stock must take part in the parade which will take place before the grand stand at 2.30 p.m. on Friday, and no exhibit shall be allowed to be removed from the grounds before 4 p.m. of the same day.

In no case will the Society be responsible for any damage or loss that may occur to any animal or article exhibited.

The admission to the grounds for non-members is 25c for adults and 15c for children. Membership tickets this year are good for one admission only—the admission of the holder.

mence on Friday at 2 p.m. are being put on by the Board of Trade and are as follows:

The Children's Service held last Sabbath morning in the Presbyterian Church, was well attended.

Mr. D. Cameron, superintendent of the Sabbath School, had charge of the programme. The address, "What the King expects of His subjects," was given by the pastor, the Rev. M. White, who referred to four things that Jesus expected of His followers. He expects them to be kind, to be pure, to be true, and to be brave.

The Rev. M. White conducted the service in Ponoka Presbyterian Church last Sabbath evening, his pulpit in Lacombe being occupied by the Rev. K. C. McLeod of Canmore.

L. B. Latimer, at one time publisher of the Western Globe, was in town for a few hours this week, on route to his home in Vancouver.
He reports the real estate business good on the coast, and he has accumulated quite a bunch of the long green since leaving Lacombe.

The lecture given by Rev. C.
D. Campbell in the Methodist Church on Friday evening, was not largely attended owing to the inclemency of the weather. The lecture, which was on the work of the Bible Society in China and Korea, was illustrated by splendid limelight views. The difficulties with which the Society meets in the distribution of the Bible in those countries, and the amazing progress which the Society is making, was interestingly demonstrated.

The Fullerton & Christie Bakery and Confectionery will be known hereafter as Fullerton & Craigie, partner, having sold out his interests to J. L. Craigie.
